Provincial Legislature Commences Session

A 15-gun royal salute sounded a welcome to His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, Captain J. C. Bowen, upon his arrival with due escort at the parliament buildings in Edmonton on Thursday afternoon last to open the sixth session of the eighth assembly of Alberta legislature.

There was a brilliant party of dignitaries present and the house galleries were filled to overflowing as those present listened with interest to the following "Speech from the Throne" delivered by His Honor, all members of the legislature being in attendance with one exception:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:

It is my privilege and pleasure to welcome you to the Sixth Session of the Eighth Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta.

Since our last Assembly, the Province has suffered the loss of a pioneer and distinguished public servant, by the death of the Honorable William Legh Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta from 1931 to 1936. His years of service with the Supreme Court of Alberta and later when he was Lieutenant-Governor, his notable contribution to the public and general well-being, his kind personality and charm of manner, won for him general esteem and endeared him to all our people.

The year we have now entered may prove a notable one, both as indicating the probable success of the new economic order now being made in this province, and throughout the world to accelerate economic readjustment and the establishment of a new social order. The period of readjustment upon which we have entered presents serious problems, the solution of which involves new conceptions of human rights and social justice. The solving of these problems, fearlessly and without sectional prejudice, offers a challenge to our democracy, and I am confident that the will of the people shall prevail.

Technicolor Picture Portrays Northland

Adapted from a James Oliver Curwood novel, the theme, the quality of screen play, acting, direction and production effects endow this picture with a stirring dramatic quality. Essentially the story is one of mental, romantic and physical conflict. It moves at a steady, attention-holding pace, with its tense drama, appealing love interest and laugh-provoking comedy. Additional thrill action is inserted in the spots where it functions most effectively.

A story of lumber men and women, it is located in the North Woods, the scenic values of which are accentuated by the artistic use of Technicolor.

In gist it tells of how a gay playboy was made a man, and a woman who was more a man than a woman was made a real woman. The plot is well developed, with dialogue and action smoothly blended. An entertaining picture because it takes of conditions and situations which ordinary folks understand, it also has more than usual exploitation value.

"God's Country and the Woman" is one of those unique features that crop up every once in a while—a compelling man's picture and an intriguing woman's attraction. Dealing in elements of strong interest to both sexes, it is the main feature at the Elite theatre this week-end.

Radiated Blood For Cancer Cure

Vancouver.—An experiment in treating cancer with transfusions of blood subjected to radium emanations is being carried out at one of Vancouver's hospitals.

A physician, who prefers to remain anonymous, has received the consent of a patient to submit to the treatment, which is believed by Vancouver medical men to be unprecedented.

The treatment was started Friday when a pint of blood, obtained from a professional donor and subjected to radiation, was transfused into the patient.

The physician said it would probably be about two months before results of the experiment are known.

It is a matter of satisfaction that some improvements in general conditions have taken place during the past year. Except in certain drought areas average crops were harvested throughout the province and basic commodity prices increased.

It is gratifying to note the oil industry of the province has now passed the experimental stage and is now an established industry. Oil production for 1937 was twice that of 1936, and far greater than that of any previous year. Perplexing problems involved in the wastage of gas in the Turner Valley have received the attention of my ministers and negotiations have been undertaken by the government and various producing companies to find a method of conserving wastage of gas.

The coal-mining industry of the province continues to make substantial progress. The production of coal steadily increases each year. It is the desire of my government to secure a wider market for Alberta coal. With Alberta's vast acreage of timber, her enormous production of wheat and dairy products, the development of the province is being accelerated.

LOCAL COUPLE ARE JOINED IN WEDLOCK

An interesting wedding took place in town on Saturday evening when Miss Leila Viola Sheppard, daughter of Mrs. Sheppard of Wainwright, became the bride of Mr. Roland James Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilkins, also of Wainwright.

Marking the occasion with which the young couple are joined in the community, St. Thomas' (Ang.) Church was packed to the doors to witness their marriage ceremony.

At exactly eight o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Robt. Lewis, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. C. Freed, who gave her in marriage. Gowned in a dress of blue crepe silk and wearing a veiled black tulle and matching accessories, she looked very charming with her bouquet of brightly colored daisies.

Miss Sule Walker, as bridesmaid.

Provincial Care of Polio Cases

In taking over care of infantile paralysis cases in the province, as provided in legislation introduced into the house, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, said on Saturday that the province would be caring for a large number of cases and would be conferring a great benefit on those who had been afflicted with the disease in rehabilitating them.

He said there were about 80 cases in the province, of which there were about 40 cases in the University hospital and the balance in other parts of the province.

Under the provisions of the act the province takes care of these cases in hospitals and the training of patients afterwards until they become self-supporting.

Gasoline Taxes Cause 1-day Strike

What would happen in the United States and Canada if motor vehicles were taken off the highways and streets, was not long ago in Switzerland, where a one-day strike against increasing gasoline taxes was staged.

Notwithstanding favorable weather, according to a report of the American Petroleum Institute Industries, traffic was down to a minimum. Practically all private cars were kept off the roads. Those which did appear bore placards reading, "Driving because of Necessity." A few families appeared on the roads with horses hitched to their automobiles.

Every type of business suffered. Fleeting towns, of course, where the hotel owners whose business is so dependent on the tourist traffic. Imagine, if you can, the stagnation that would afflict business if motor vehicles were withdrawn from the highways for a single day.

EDGERTON COUPLE 25th ANNIVERSARY

Some sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Challenger, at Edgerton, on Saturday evening, February 15th, to surprise them in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary.

Music, dancing and cards were enjoyed by the happy crowd throughout the evening, and at midnight a delicious lunch was served at which several guests to the honored couple were presented and suitably acknowledged.

Mr. Chas. Callas was a business visitor to Edmonton for a couple of days.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. W. H. Kemp who passed away February 21st, 1938.

Gone, dear Mother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
Gone from us but leaving memories
Death can never take away.
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.

LOCAL COUPLE ARE JOINED IN WEDLOCK

Joined lovingly in her blue silk frock, and also carried a sheaf of daisies, Miss Leila Viola Sheppard, daughter of Mrs. Sheppard of Wainwright, became the bride of Mr. Roland James Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilkins, also of Wainwright.

TRANS-CANADA PLANES

Trans-Canada Air Lines Electra planes now in service between Vancouver and Seattle and being used on scheduled training flights in western Canada have a maximum speed of 205 miles an hour, with a cruising speed of 183. They have a fuel capacity of 207 gallons and a cruising range of 720 miles.

Order in Council Renews Alta. Loans

Ottawa.—Renewal of $4,478,000 in loans to Alberta under the Relief Act was disclosed in an Order-in-Council tabled in the House of Commons on Thursday last by Finance Minister Dunning.

Three loans totalling the above amount were due to mature Feb. 1st, Feb. 9th and March 30th. They have been consolidated as from Feb. 1st and renewed for one year, the Federal government accepting Alberta treasury bills, bearing interest at three percent, as security.

LOCAL NOTES

The decided drop in the temperature during the past week have not been pleasant, for despite the bright sunshine the "30-below-plus" reading of the thermometers have stung many an ear and nose! Makes it hard on the gas bill, too; although rumor has it that some folks manage to get round these!

Mr. A. G. Smith, superintendent of the National Park, is away with Mrs. Smith for a couple of weeks on business.

Mrs. W. E. Washburn has been on the sick list during the past week suffering with a severe cold; we are glad to hear that she is some better.

Mrs. H. P. Schlitz returns home from Seattle on Saturday evening, where she had been called by the serious illness of her father. Although her patient is some better at last reports, we are sorry to know that he is still a very sick man.

Y.P.U. DEBATERS MOTOR TO IRMA

A truck load of members of the United Church Young People's Union motored to Irma on Thursday evening of last week to pay a visit to the Irma Union.

A very interesting programme was put on, the main feature being a debate, "Resolved that Canada should refuse to join forces with Great Britain in the event of another European war." The Wainwright debaters Ken Torg and Hunter Branchflower, upheld the affirmative side. At the close of the debate, Mr. M. Meade, chairman of the judges, gave some very interesting points. The decision which was very close, was given to Irma.

A social hour spent in games and contests, and a hearty lunch brought the visit to a close.

CANADA EATING MORE ONIONS

Canadians are eating more onions, with the result that there is a scarcity at the present time which is being met by imports from the United States. Egyptian onions are expected to arrive in Canada in about a month's time, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways.

COUNTRY TOWNS ON RADIO PROGRAM

Wainwright is now getting its share of radio publicity with other towns in Northern Alberta, both the Edmonton stations featuring this new line.

CNCA (the Journal station) has recently filed a contract with some dozen weekly newspapers. The Star being one of those selected for its coverage and now carrying the advertisement each week. At 5.30 p.m. each Saturday the "Country Weekly" program is on the air, and The Star is among those mentioned.

The new CNCA (the Bulletin station) "Your Country Editor" program comprises a 15-minute address by different weekly editors. The Editor of The Star is scheduled for April 8th next. This broadcast is heard each Friday at 8 p.m.

VALENTINE DANCE SEES BIG CROWD

The theatre was well filled on Monday evening last when the members of St. Thomas' A.Y.P.A. staged their annual Valentine's Day dance. All those concerned had worked with might and main to attain the success it proved, and are to be congratulated upon the result of their efforts.

The pretty decorations, too, added to the attractiveness of the setting, and reflected credit on those who spent time and energy to the end that all their guests should feel right at home at the affair.

A splendid 8-piece orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Alec Adams kept the crowd truly "on their toes" all the early hours. At midnight the usual sumptuous and tasty lunch was served.

SCHOOL PUPILS GIVE ENJOYABLE EVENING

(By "The Critic")

Under the efficient chairmanship of Principal Meade the High and Public School Concert held in the Elite theatre on Tuesday, February 18th, scored a distinct success and was a very young cast. They had the trying duty of portraying characters utterly beyond their youthful experience—and they did it well.

"David Copperfield Runs Away," by grades 4 and 5, was excellent and while no one could be picked for special mention, they were all good and the play flowed smoothly.

The chorus of girls in "Song of the Mistletoe" was very effective and her recitation "The Giant" was very well done indeed.

Mrs. Darrah's grade 9 class in "Johnny Males a Sale" provided the highlight in comedy of the evening. The contrast between the high-pressure sales talk and the steady purpose opposing it was well brought out and made the most of, and the by-plays very spontaneous and natural.

The chorus of girls in "Song of the Mistletoe" was very effective and her recitation "The Giant" was very well done indeed.

Mrs. Burns' pupils in "The Robulous Alphabet" were a splendid example of what the little fellows can do under expert training. Their earnestness and enthusiasm was infectious.

Miss Rank's class in their action song were delightful. Here was action and movement well-controlled and well-drilled. Very graceful and novel.

The ballet dance, "Batteries in the Rain" by Miss Darrah's class of high school girls was beautifully costumed and splendidly executed. The whole of the big cast went through the various movements with that ease and grace that can only come through training and then more training.

Of the pyramid building and tumbling by Mr. Abbott's and Mr. Paton's classes, there was enjoyment every minute of it. The response to the whistle was almost military in precision and the athletic abilities of all who took part are beyond criticism. It is perhaps unfeeling to say that any one of the participants but I cannot refrain from saying how much I enjoyed the snappy exhibition given by Jimmy Pon. He literally "flowed" through his display, and his easy, graceful recovery from any and all positions was a splendid example of muscular co-ordination and training.

I would like to take advantage of the prerogative of a critic and offer a suggestion to the bigger boys. Their response to the whistle calling them from their waiting position would be

Trustees' Convention Condemns Big Units

Over 500 delegates attended the annual convention of Alberta school trustees, held in Calgary. Almost unanimously the convention approved a resolution that the government suspend further organization of large units until satisfactory results are demonstrated in those already in operation; that no additional large units be put in operation without the approval of those affected having been secured.

The convention approved the establishment by the government or a teachers' pension plan for the province providing that no part of the cost be charged to school districts. It was urged that steps be taken at the first session of legislature to bring an equitable pension scheme into effect.

A suggestion was on the basis of 3 percent of teachers' salaries. The convention adopted a resolution asking that the government contribute at least 50 percent of the education cost. Comparative figures were presented showing that the Alberta government carries the smallest proportionate share, P.E.I. government paid 55 percent of the cost of education; Nova Scotia, 30 percent; New Brunswick, 25 percent; Quebec, where there was a different system, nine percent; Ontario 20 percent; Manitoba, 15 percent; Saskatchewan about 21 percent, while Alberta paid 13 percent in 1937; British Columbia paid 38 percent.

The low proportion in Alberta was not to be blamed on the present government for in 1924 the percentage was only 13.3.

Referring to reduction in library grants at a time when the new curriculum calls for bigger libraries, it was stated that in 1935 only $15,497 was spent for library books in Alberta, out of a total expenditure of $100,000 for education and the rural schools averaged only about $3.00 a month.

A resolution, which embodied certain features recommended by various boards, presented the following requests:

1. That the school districts be given one year's notice of the introduction of new textbooks; 2. That the department of education be requested to have a reasonable store of these books on hand; 3. That the department of education be requested to stabilize the textbooks required in the high schools of this province at the earliest possible date; 4. That the cost to parents and school districts be seriously considered by the department in making changes in text books and in introducing new texts and reference books; 5. That in view of the increasing requirements of the department for the purchase of new books the library grant abolished some years ago be re-established; 6. That the department of Education be earnestly requested to use every endeavor to have uniform textbooks introduced in the schools of the four western provinces.

Among the resolutions passed by the convention were the following:

"That municipal secretaries be requested to be re-elected."

C.N.R. Excursions Boost Rail Travel

Montreal.—Low fare coach excursions between Canadian cities and towns are doing much to stimulate railroad travel, over half a million persons moving by this means over the Canadian National Railways during 1937, according to C. W. Johnston, General Passenger Traffic Manager of the company.

The excursion idea is not new to Canada, stated Mr. Johnston, but in its present application the bargain travel plan has gone further than ever before, the result being to bring hundreds of thousands of people to the railway for short coach trips.

"These coach excursions have fostered a community spirit by encouraging people to visit centers which they perhaps have never seen or have not visited for many years, affording the opportunity to travel cheaply, safely and in comfort to do sightseeing and visit relatives and friends," stated Mr. Johnston.

Hundreds of coach excursions at economy fares were operated last year by the Canadian National Railways, conveying 82,418 passengers in the Western Region.

Mr. J. W. Walker, who has farmed in the Paxton district for the past 25 years, died at the hospital on Wednesday last. The funeral was held from St. Thomas' church on Friday.

Week-End Bride Guest at Shower

Mrs. D. Walker and her daughter, Sule, were hostesses to about twenty-five friends on Wednesday evening last, when they entertained at a surprise kitchen shower in honor of Miss Viola Sheppard, a bride-elect.

In the earlier part of the evening much enjoyment was had in doing a number of contests, with Mr. J. Street, Mrs. H. Parkhurst and Miss L. McKay winning the prizes.

With the lights all extinguished, the guest of honor was taken to various corners of the house where she found notes of instruction, and was finally led to a large container of gifts. Upon opening the package, Miss Sheppard fittingly thanked everyone for their kindness and good wishes.

A delicious lunch served later in the evening, followed by the reading of the couple, brought the party to a fitting close.

Niagara Falls.—Bernard Yungbluth, president of the International Railway Company, owner of the destroyed Fallsview bridge, announced Sunday that the company would erect a new single deck span on the site of the old structure. He said the bridge would cost $1,500,000.

In a statement, Mr. Yungbluth said plans call for the building of foundations higher than the old bridge, high enough not to be affected by any future ice jam. The old bridge, which stood for 39 years, collapsed two weeks ago under pressure of a gigantic ice jam. Mr. Yungbluth said the new structure would be of the arch type and would be ready in 1939.

"Come On, You Sunshine!"

by A. B. CHAPIN

This Week in Washington

It is far too early to attempt to forecast what this session of Congress will do in general, or what will be the outcome of particular measures pending or proposed. But the developments of the first few days of the session point clearly, in the opinion of most experienced observers, toward certain lines of Administration policy upon which, it seems likely, there will be rather general agreement in Congress.

In general, the new policy of the Administration is to play much closer to business than it has heretofore done and to return to economic principles which were discarded in the first exuberant days of the New Deal. But it is part of the play to do this without sacrificing any of the political hold on the masses which has been built up by the policies which the Administration has been following for the past five years.

Sorting Sheep From Goats

The President drew a sharp distinction between the honest 90 percent of business men and the 10 percent of "big business" which, he intimates, needs curbing in the public interest. The "good" element in business should be relieved of too burdensome pressure of taxation, he said, while the monopolistic tendencies and practices of "big business" should be thoroughly investigated, exposed and checked by such new legislation as may be necessary.

In the meantime, honest capital should be encouraged to invest in a broad building program with a fair chance of profit, and industry should be encouraged to greater production and re-employment.

At the same time, the President sounded a warning to Labor against monopolistic tendencies and illegal practices. That was calculated to assuage many of the fears of capital and industry, which have been doubtful as to how far the Administration was committed to support of high-handed Labor policies enforced by violence.

Yearly Instead of Hourly Wage

Many observers point out that the President's suggestion that there should be a readjustment of the whole scheme of compensation for labor, looking toward the eventual establishment of a yearly wage instead of the present hourly wage, and his other recommendations, are in the nature of a return to the economic policies proposed in the beginning of President Roosevelt's first Administration by Professor O. M. W. Sprague, the Harvard economist who was called into the Administration councils from the post he had held for many years as an economic adviser to the Bank of England. Professor Sprague and Dean Acheson, who was Mr. Roosevelt's first Under-Secretary of the Treasury, split with the President in the fall of 1933, in disagreement with the New Deal policies, and especially the N.R.A., and both resigned.

Sprague, Acheson Vindicated Both Mr. Sprague and Mr. Acheson maintained the view that there was no single remedy for economic trouble and events have proved them right. Dr. Sprague was especially insistent the lunch. These should afford considerable variety. Often a child refuses to eat cold lunch because he has grown weary of the same food. It is difficult to get changes but if you are anxious for suggestions, write to me and I shall be pleased to send you a list of sandwich suggestions.

Every lunch should have some fruit. Fresh fruit is preferable. An apple adds enjoyment to the meal and is easily carried. A small jar with a tight screw top can be used to carry some preserved fruit. A baked apple or some applesauce can be taken this way. A custard can be baked in a cup and carried. Do not forget to put in a spoon.

Cookies or cake are also a part of the average lunch. A strict ruling should be made that these are eaten at the end of the lunch. Avoid crumbly cakes, as they make crumbs all over the rest of the food. The ideal way is to wrap each part of the lunch in waxed paper. This helps to keep the food fresh and the crumbs of one part of the food away from the other foods. These papers can be used several times.

This appliance cake is particularly recommended. It does not break up and will keep moist for sometime. This is due to the applesauce.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 or two eggs
2 teaspoons cocoa
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 cup cold unsweetened apple sauce
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 1/2 cups flour
Raisins or nuts if desired.
Cream the butter and sugar together. Add eggs and cream all three. Mix and sift the dry ingredients and add the fruit to the dry ingredients. Add with the cold applesauce. Bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

in his belief that no tinkering with the currency on any scheme of managed money would do the trick alone. He proposed going at the root of the nation's troubles, one thing at a time. He advocated a building program, starting with an attack on prices of materials through anti-trust suits if necessary, and the use of all Government influence. He included among his recommendations that labor in the building trades be induced to recede from its stand for a high hourly wage; in short, a program of lower prices and normal production.

Those precise proposals were made by the President in his message to Congress; which shrewd observers take as evidence of the ultimate triumph of Professor Sprague's economic ideas, in which Mr. Acheson backed him at the cost of his job. It was Mr. Acheson's idea that people and corporations in financial trouble should be encouraged to "go through the wringer," by recourse to bankruptcy and a fresh start.

Administration Holds to Policy

It should not be imagined, however, that the present return of the Administration to those earlier ideas of economy means that all of the ideas of the ardent New Dealers have been abandoned. On the contrary, a new line of conversation is being heard in New Deal circles, based on the same theory which lay behind the N.R.A., A.A.A. and the regulation of oil, soft coal and other industries. The essence of the new idea hold that laws against monopoly and price-fixing cannot be enforced, but since it is uneconomic to break down "big business" into a lot of little businesses, the thing to do is to strengthen Government regulation of all kinds of "big business" on the theory that when an enterprise or any sort reaches a certain size it becomes a public utility. The phrase that is being heard in Washington now is "Government the Overseer of Business", prescribing a general pattern within which each kind of business must function, its management being free only within the limitations suggested.

Picking Sutherland's Successor

One thing which Congress, or one branch of it, will do can be safely predicted now. The Senate will scrutinize the qualifications of the President's nominee to the Supreme Court as Justice Sutherland's successor with a great deal more care than it exercised in the case of Justice Black. The announcement of Justice Sutherland's intention to retire on January 18 came as a surprise to everybody. It gives the President an opportunity to name another "liberal" to the Supreme Court bench. Speculation is rife as to whom it will be, with a quite general belief that the choice will fall upon Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School, generally conceded to be one of the ablest lawyers in America and a profound student of public affairs. Dr. Frankfurter is perhaps the only out-and-out New Dealer who would be certain of confirmation if nominated.

Productive Investment

FOR EVERY ONE of the seven thousand employees of Dominion Textile Company Limited, there is invested an average amount of more than four thousand dollars in land, buildings and machinery. This investment is productive. When it was first made, it created employment for workers in the building trades, for employees in machinery factories, for transportation workers and many others. It continues to be productive because it has been converted into cards, spindles, looms and other implements of production that are operated by wage-earners.

CANADIAN CUSTOMERS as well as employees of the Company have shared the benefits of this investment. By buying improved machinery as it has been developed, the Company has been able to reduce the working hours and increase the wages of its employees. At the same time, the improvements in machinery have increased production and lowered costs, and these savings have been passed on to consumers in lower prices for cotton and rayon goods.

INVESTMENT in Dominion Textile Company Limited may be measured in dollars and cents, but it does not exist as sterile money. It is in the form of buildings and machinery which make jobs for your fellow Canadians who make textiles for you.

An experienced grocery man knew of an excellent opportunity to buy a small grocery business, which needed only experienced management to make it a profitable success. He brought his proposition to the Bank and upon satisfactory security a loan was made to provide the necessary money.

The World of Wheat

By
H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

We have just passed through a rather hectic wheat year. A number of unusual and striking features developed. Some of these were as follows:

Western Canada experienced the lowest yield per acre ever recorded, and in consequence harvested only half a normal crop.

The United States, after several years of drought, produced a full or normal crop.

For the first time in ten years the Canadian "Carry-over" was down to the longtime average of 37 million on August 1st, 1937.

The premiums paid on World's markets for the top grades of Canadian wheat, because of their scarcity, were higher than ever before registered.

The World's estimated demand for export wheat was the lowest recorded since 1913-14.

Wars and fear of wars greatly disturbed wheat markets, both buyers and sellers.

For the first time in three years the World produced sufficient wheat to supply its annual consumptive needs.

World's wheat "Carry-over" is still 150 million bushels less than is usually considered sufficient.

The new Argentine wheat crop was severely damaged by frost.

All those unusual factors had a marked influence in causing prices to rise or to decline rapidly as news of the various occurrences came forward.

The following factors have tended to raise price: Active buying of Argentine wheat by Brazil and Argentine millers. Lack of moisture in U.S. mid-west—Germany buys several cargoes of Argentine wheat. Exports to non-European countries (ex. U.S.) exceed a year ago—South Africa prohibits corn exports—Taiwan (Formosa) rice crops smaller than a year ago.

The following factors have tended to lower price: Rains save Argentine corn crop—Indian wheat crop progressing well—Australian private estimate higher than official—Unsatisfactory financial conditions in importing countries—United Kingdom using more home-grown wheat—Argentine corn acreage believed large—U.S. farm stocks almost double year ago.

ALICE STEVEN'S HOME SERVICE

With the cold winter days here the school lunch assumes a great importance in the health of the school children. Their breakfast is too often hurried and inadequate. This means that the noon lunch must be packed so that the child has nourishing food. The evening meal should not be too heavy.

The lunch should be packed in a pill or box that can be washed out. Cardboard boxes retain odors and are not advised. A paper parcel is not satisfactory because the lunch gets broken and unappetizing looking.

Whenever possible the lunch should be accompanied by a hot dish. This hot food helps to stimulate the digestion and the entire meal is used to better advantage by the body. If there are no arrangements made by the school to supply hot lunches, thermos bottles may be used. These are not expensive to buy and hot soup or cocoa may be carried in this way. GRAIN CHAMPIONSHIPS
AND HOW THEY ARE WON

It is hard or is it? It is hard to bring home, thrills and dollars to successful competitors at local, provincial and international grain shows? There are many who compete occasionally but few who stick to it year after year. These few are often spoken of as professionals and showmen, and occasionally this may be true, but usually, says G. R. Snyder, they represent the best type of farmer, the man who sets the pace which leads to higher standards of field crop production.

An intimate knowledge of the many factors influencing plant growth is essential in the production of the quality of grain required for a winning display.

Seed-borne diseases, such as root rots and smut, are stubborn enemies to the production of the perfect grain. Thanks, however, to the development of a new organic mercury seed disinfectant, these diseases can now be controlled.

Bright-looking seed is obtained by permitting the crops to mature thoroughly before harvesting and then protecting a few loads of the best sheaves from the weather by the use of canvas covers or by standing the sheaves in the barn or shed where wind will dry them.

When threshing, the separator is operated more slowly than usual, so that the pump seeds will not be broken or injured. After threshing, the grain is fanned to remove the small and light-weight seeds, buffed to shine and increase the weight per bushel by removing dust particles, small weed seeds, awns and tips, then graded to uniform size and weight as modern machinery can accomplish.

Hand-picking is the final and most tedious operation a few seeds at a time being spread on a flat surface covered with white paper or other suitably colored material and closely examined for the slightest difference in color size shape and plumpness. This final operation is often severely criticized but is performed because of the tendency of the judges to stress the beautiful. This has been a great drawing card for a bushel of grain which contains thousands of perfectly uniform seeds, in size, shape and color, is very fascinating.

Recent disclosures of science indicate, however, that these beautiful seeds are not always as perfect as they look. G. A. Scott, of the Division of Botany, Ottawa, an authority on seed-borne diseases, made tests on samples of prize winning registered wheat and barley, taken from exhibits at a leading Canadian fair and found the first prize barley 96 percent diseased, while the second prize sample was free of disease spores.

In the wheat class the first and second prize grain gave, respectively, 92 percent and 86 percent germination with only 2 percent rot infection; the third prize wheat gave 74 percent germination and 1 percent disease, whereas the fourth prize sample was free of disease spores.

At the same time, the first prize wheat gave 98 percent, and only 2 percent of the kernels were diseased.

Competing for grain championships is really a family sport. It is too complicated and tedious for one man to play alone. All members of the family can take a part and in doing so they become genuinely interested.

Nothing in the whole field of invention and technical progress has made such rapid strides as the automobile. Compare the poorest car turned out in 1938 with the best of 1918, or even of 1928, and the superiority of the new cars over the old, from every point of view, is instantly apparent.

But the automobile of today is far inferior to the car of the future as the earlier cars were to those of now. Industrial research at its best is working ceaselessly to improve them. The car of the not far distant future, the Society of Automotive Engineers was told the other day at its convention will not only be equipped with a heater for winter driving but with an air cooling device to make it comfortable in summer heat. farmers in determining whether they are growing the proper variety and if not, where they can find a neighbor who may have grown that is better suited for seed. Our Agent, or any Agent of the other companies associated with the "Crop Testing Plan" can give you further information with regard to this.

We hope that you will do whatever possible to assist in furthering the use of good seed in your district and, in this way, you will be doing your part in bringing additional revenue to the producers, and your district will be doing its part in assisting Canada to maintain its position in the World wheat markets.

Yours truly,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

President of Board of Trade, Wainwright, Alta.
Dear Sir,

You undoubtedly are acquainted with the necessity of the farmers of Western Canada maintaining a high quality standard of Canadian wheat if Canada wishes to hold its place in the world's wheat markets.

Other countries have realized that wheat of good quality is necessary in the world and they are taking steps to compete with Canada in the quality market. Argentina, particularly, is planning a campaign to raise the quality of her wheat and thereby compete more than ever with Canada. The only answer for us is to redouble our efforts to maintain the high standard of our wheat and if possible to make it even better.

You also know, of course, that farmers in the West can secure additional revenue by growing wheat which will command a high grade. This year, particularly, those producers who grow One and Two Northern wheat received a large premium over those who had lower grades. It is therefore, definitely of value to the producer, as a means of securing the greatest money return from his wheat, to endeavor to grow the highest possible quality.

Many farmers in your district during the next few months will be discussing their seed plans for the season, and in order that you may be in a position to give them more definite advice with regard to improving the quality of their seed, hence of their crop, we are enclosing a pamphlet entitled "A Seed Field Guide for the Farmer". We hope that this will be of interest and value to you.

We would also advise that the "Crop Testing Plan", of which the Searle Grain Company, Limited, is a member, can assist farmers in your district in securing supplies of good seed at very moderate prices. Also the "Crop Testing Plan" can assist farmers in determining whether they are growing the proper variety and if not, where they can find a neighbor who may have grown that is better suited for seed. Our Agent, or any Agent of the other companies associated with the "Crop Testing Plan" can give you further information with regard to this.

We hope that you will do whatever possible to assist in furthering the use of good seed in your district and, in this way, you will be doing your part in bringing additional revenue to the producers, and your district will be doing its part in assisting Canada to maintain its position in the World wheat markets.

Yours truly,

House of Hazards

By Mac. Arthur

safe, economical automotive refrigerating system is in process of evolution. It may be something like the "dry ice" system, widely used in the desert regions of the Southwest, where the motorist can buy at a filling station a brick of carbon-dioxide "snow" which has a temperature of 106 below zero and evaporates into a harmless gas. That is an effective method of keeping a closed car cool.

The modern closed car, however, came in for criticism at the same convention. The engineers were told that they were sacrificing safety to style, by making the car hood too long and high, drivers' seats too low, and corner posts too thick, among other things. Better flexibility from the driver's seat is needed.

Efforts to create further interest on the part of municipal and school authorities in the need of greater safety training for school children are being made in various parts of the country.

One phase of this campaign is to warn youngsters of the danger of running out from behind parked cars. School accident reports all too often carry the notation, "ran from behind parked car." To check this tendency, the parents of children when at play, should have had large warning posters distributed.

While the schools are extending the work of training youngsters to observe car when at play, parents also should do the same. It may mean the difference between life and death for some child.

When the Alberta Motor Association held its annual meeting at Calgary, it decided that a committee should look into the possibility of having safety driving courses introduced into the educational system of this province as has been done in British Columbia. Recently there has been discussion of similar steps in Manitoba. The needs of this province will be discussed with the government by a committee from the A.M.A.

He Once Picked Grapes To Pay His Rent - Today He Earns Five Dollars A Second

In 1922, Lawrence Tibbett was living in a rooming house in New York City, trying to support his wife. He sang in a church choir on Sunday, and picked up five dollars a week, and then by singing "Oh, Promise Me" at a wedding.

He had studied for years, but he wasn't getting anywhere. However, he had a friend, Rupert Hughes, who believed in him. Hughes said: "You have the makings of a great voice. You ought to study in New York."

That little bit of friendly encouragement proved to be the turning point in Tibbett's life, for it caused him to borrow twenty-five hundred dollars and start East. In 1922, Lawrence Tibbett was so poor he couldn't afford to live in town. So he rented a house in the country. The house cost him one dollar a month, but he couldn't pay it. He was so poor he couldn't pay it. He was so poor he couldn't pay it.

NEWS

ARTICLES

The Local Newspaper of any town has a privilege of giving news to its readers of local happening, either in brief form or it may write editorial on any subject it sees fit, and the local newspaper welcomes news from correspondents of the rural districts, also letters to the Editor, which are always welcome provided the writer signs his name at the end of the article which is not necessary for publication should the editor feel satisfied to allow a pen name for the writer at the end of his article. All news which comes from country correspondents must be signed by the correspondent in good faith of the writer, which is not for publication. Should news budgets come into newspaper without the writer's signature it is then distributed to the waste basket. We wish to announce that in future all country news budgets must be signed by the correspondent, otherwise such articles will be destroyed.

We ask that all correspondents will please see that their news items are signed by them. We wish to thank all those who have contributed news from time to time, and to emphasize that we do not give out any names of writers who contribute articles to this paper.

LIBERTY AND THE PRESS

Whenever we hear politicians denouncing the newspapers and demanding that they stop criticizing public officials, we begin to be suspicious that there is something going on which would not look good in print.

Any politician or public official who, on occasions will not stand and explain in the light of day deserves to be criticized for attempting to conceal what he is doing from the public on which he depends for political support, and which pays his salary when he has a public job.

This is still a democracy. The office-holders are still the public's servants, and responsible to the public. That is not true in a great many countries, where the people are not considered their rights or been deprived of them by force. In those countries the people have become servants of the state. In America the state is the servant of the people.

The first step of those who would become despots is to silence the press, and to keep them in ignorance of what is going on. This is done by suppressing the news of the doing of the politicians and prohibiting criticism of public officials. When that is done and the people hear or read only one side of the story, the rest of the work of enslaving them is easily accomplished.

When public men talk about a "conspiracy of the newspapers to make false statements about their acts" they are talking through their hats. But that is the time to watch them and to criticize still more vigorously, for such charges may easily be a first step toward building up a public opinion so unfriendly to newspapers that it might become easy enough to suppress them. We do not think any responsible person or group in America has any such intention, but if there were a serious purpose to set the Government up as ruler instead of servant that would have to be done—EX.

THE REAL FINANCERS

In a quiet and exhaustive personal review of the statements of the different municipal bodies of our district which we have recently indulged in, it is very plainly to be seen that all our councillors, trustees and other members of governing bodies are truly in "big business".

These municipal and such-like bodies need offer no apologies to senior governments from the viewpoint of efficiency, for within their circumscribed sphere and limited range of taxation they prove by their balance sheets that their administrations have been careful, and although due to the disadvantage of poor crop years and consequent lower tax collections they have made a real praiseworthy attempt to balance receipts and expenditures.

One very necessary requirement for a person holding a public office is that he must have had reasonable success in managing his personal affairs, and apparently it has been men of such calibre who filled the public offices during 1937, according to the manner in which their duties financial and otherwise have been brought to fruition so as to present to the taxpayers the reports which have been prepared for the ratepayers' information.

Practical experience in the fluctuations which visit farm or business life and an ability to meet these, are good foundation for civic life; and added to this must be a measure of progressiveness and a mind always open to grasp opportunities.

CONTINUATION OF
Prov. Legislature

opment of her natural resources, and the placing of increased purchasing power into the hands of her people, we should look forward this year to greater prosperity and contentment.

The province's reputation as a country where first-class stock and prime dairy products are being produced has been enhanced by the continued and enlarged success of Alberta's exhibitors at the Toronto Royal and Chicago International shows. My government is giving careful consideration to all measures calculated to promote and stabilize agriculture and to assist in the efficient and profitable marketing of livestock, grain and other farm products.

The problem of milk distribution in the larger centres of population has engaged the attention of a committee appointed at the last session. This committee has fully completed its investigation and will submit its report for your consideration.

It is a pleasure to report that my government has been doing all in its power to promote that which is the health, the happiness and the welfare of our people and any government proposes to meet the growing need in municipal areas lacking medical facilities, and to press on to the ultimate introduction of state health control.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Legislative Assembly, a representative committee of the House was appointed to make a survey of The Workmen's Compensation Act. The committee has completed its investigation and its report will be presented to the House for your consideration.

In the field of education much has been accomplished. In addition to eleven large administration units in successful operation during the last year, eleven more large units have just been organized and put into operation on February 7, 1938. These are intended to improve rural education, and in all they include approximately 1,495 districts. It is the intention of my government to continue the setting up of the larger administration unit when and where possible until the province is fully organized.

Changes in the courses of study are progressively being made in all grades. Last year the new intermediate program and the Grade X program were introduced. This year the new Grade XI program comes into effect.

My government has, in co-operation with the federal government, implemented youth training programs for the purpose of developing our young men and women for the various vocations in life. Agricultural, placement and rehabilitation projects have been undertaken.

Unemployment relief continues to be the major perplexing problem of my government under the present financial system. My ministers are carefully considering various methods of meeting the unemployment situation in a more satisfactory manner.

During the past year my government embarked upon extensive public works involving capital expenditure. New roads were built and thereby employment was given to those on relief. Every effort is being made to carry out the policy of my government and to co-operate with the federal authorities in the construction of modern roads to parks and mining regions. My government expects to extend this year the hard surfacing of main roads and the improvement of secondary highways.

Owing to drought conditions in some parts of the province, collections in some municipal areas were below the 1936 mark. The tax sales held during the past year have materially assisted many people in adjusting their arrears, and in no case was any farmer dispossessed of his home through them. The main purpose in holding tax sales has been to bring back to my government control of abandoned lands. Further legislation will be introduced to give better protection to bona fide owners. The Department of Municipal Affairs will present its twenty-fifth annual report. In it comparisons will be made showing progress.

It has been gratifying to note the progress that has been made by the province in the betterment of conditions for labor. The minimum wage and hours of employment for men and women, ethical business practices, fair relation between employer and employee, and between one business and another have all been carefully adjusted. My government will continue to improve conditions for labor and to assist industries which are adapted to the Province of Alberta. My government has also taken steps to promote a more satisfactory inter-provincial trade relationship with British Columbia.

At this session you will also receive the report of the Social Credit Board. Further consideration will be given to debt adjustment legislation and such other measures as may be deemed necessary for the good and welfare of our people.

The public accounts of the last fiscal year will be submitted for your consideration. You will also be asked to consider the estimates for the coming year which have been prepared with a view to the strictest economy consistent with the efficiency of the government offices and social services. In the meantime, the time which concerns my ministers and to which your deliberations will be directed at this session, is to deal with the conditions still distressing our people and with the remedy for the same.

I leave you now to the business of the session with full confidence that you will faithfully discharge your duties and responsibilities to the best interest and the general welfare of the province.

I pray that Divine Providence will guide and bless your work.

CONTINUATION OF

quired to set aside the regulation for each individual school district as much money as is received by them as that each school may have its own money when it is required and where the rule is not followed that the school district affected may be given the right to levy and collect their own taxes.

Questions asked in connection with enlarged units, were answered as follows: That a school district not in an organized district could not collect arrears of taxes unless authorized to do so by the department of municipal affairs.

The budget for a larger unit will be based on existing conditions and divided among the municipalities in the district; there would not be a separate budget for each municipality.

If the members of a divisional board refused to act the minister of education had the power to appoint an official trustee or trustees. The department was not in a position to give figures on the operation of the larger units as the year had just closed. He expected that such information would be made available in the near future. The establishment of high schools in the larger unit was the responsibility of the divisional board and not of the department of education.

E. L. Fuller, chief school inspector, said that authority for paying less than the minimum salary to a teacher could be signed by the minister or deputy minister of education. The secretary-treasurers of the larger units were appointed by the division boards, who also set the rate of pay. The School Act provided that the assets of a school district within a larger unit remained the property of the school district but the cash assets were placed in a trust fund used by the divisional board. At the end of three years the school district could demand that the money be spent within the school district.

What Purposes do
Life Insurance
Premiums Serve?

Answer.—They provide your dependants a guaranteed sum in the event of your death—or provide money for your old age.

Question.—What is done with the premiums you pay?

Answer.—The savings which you put into Life Insurance are combined with those of other policyholders and are carefully invested in the best interests of all policyholders.

Q.—What is the guarantee back of these invested funds?

A.—The security of the individual loans, in addition to the integrity of the borrowers—whether governments, corporations, or individuals.

Q.—Why are premiums called savings?

A.—Because, year after year, they build up the fund out of which payments to policyholders and beneficiaries are made.

Q.—How much of this money is paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries in Canada?

A.—Half a Million Dollars every business day.

This is the second of a series of messages sponsored by Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. The third, to appear in two weeks' time, will discuss Life Insurance assets.

"REMINISCENCES OF OTHER DAYS"

TEN YEARS AGO

The carnival held on the local rink under the sponsorship of the B.P.O.E. was well attended. The freestyle games supplied much amusement both to those taking part and the on-lookers, with the Telford rink finally coming out on the top. The endurance race was won by Mr. A. McKeever and the couple race by Miss F. T. and Mr. J. Mawson.

Miss Florence M. Denny, a former resident, passed away in England last week from pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Woods of the "Y" ranch left for a couple of months' holidays to be spent in B.C. and California.

A pretty double wedding was held in the United Church manse on Wednesday, when Miss Arlie May Prosser was united in marriage with Mr. Gordon Patterson and Miss Mary Florence Archibald became the bride of Mr. Freeman Prosser, all the contracting parties being well-known in the Irma district where they will reside following a short honeymoon.

Mrs. Sterling T. left this week to pay a visit to her old home in Barmhead, Scotland.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Art Smith when he entertained at progressive whist. Prize winners for the evening were as follows: Mrs. A. Bartlett, Mrs. J. Bartlett and Mrs. Davidson and Messrs. Elmer Jackson, N. Bartlett and Tom Hill.

After having spent an enjoyable holiday at the coast, Mrs. R. A. Snyder returned home last week.

SYDENHAM

Mr. C. Alexander spent the week with his brother, Mr. G. Alexander, at his home in Turner Valley.

Miss Jean Dixon and Miss Doreen Woodward spent the week-end visiting with relatives at Irma.

Owing to the very cold weather of the past couple of weeks, a number of people in the district are suffering from colds.

After spending a couple of weeks at the home of her father, Mrs. F. Church returned to her home on Thursday.

Mrs. C. M. Alexander returned to her home on Thursday after spending the past couple of months in Vancouver visiting her parents.

Sympathy is expressed from this district to Mrs. J. Walker and family in their sad loss.

Sheepskin Flats

The card party and dance at the Gilt Edge hall was well attended. Prize winners were: Miss Dorothy Fox, Miss Clara Doncourt, Mr. Sam Button and Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Lloyd Myers, we are sorry to report, is still under the weather.

Miss Bettie Roberts is confined to her bed with a bad attack of the flu.

Miss Annie Wilkinson has been home from school for some time with an attack of the flu. We hope to see her around again soon.

We are very glad indeed to hear that Mr. J. Wilkinson is feeling ever so much better after his sick spell.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallard and family spent the past week at the home of Mrs. Mallard's parents at Ribstone.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Bill Blason is now out of the hospital and feeling much improved in health.

Mrs. Templeton, who has been in bed with flu, is now able to be around.

Straw and hay hauling is the order of the day in this district. Farmers will certainly welcome a break in the weather after this severe cold.

A certain gentleman in this district seems to be very much concerned as to how the farmers are going to pull through the winter. According to his report their menu is "spuds and meat", then when they get tired of having it in this form they change it around and have meat and spuds. As a constant observer sees it, the inhabitants of Sheepskin Flats seem to be thriving fairly well on said diet. I would suggest that when this gentleman drops in for a much-needed meal they mix spuds and meat and make it hash. Let us hope that this same gentleman who is so deeply concerned about other people's welfare, always has a good supply of meat and spuds and he'll have nothing to worry about. The Flats should be very grateful to have such a considerate person in their midst.

Now the days are getting longer, it will soon be time to plan your spring house-cleaning. Paint, wallpaper, varnishes and brushes at the Atlas yard. See Joe Welch.

Mr. Tom Wilkinson of the Steath district was quite seriously injured while hunting hay last Wednesday. Striking a rabbit across the field, he reached for the rifle which he had with him, and in an attempt to raise it, the weapon exploded. A bullet was discharged through his body and he was brought to the doctor in an unconscious condition.

Mr. Mayor Beaudry was presented with a $200 concert for his valuable service rendered as bandmaster.

Mr. Colwell, car foreman at the G.T.P. yards, was taken to Edmonton at the week-end suffering from badly frozen feet.

Mr. J. L. Gerow slipped his local rink to victory in the annual bonspiel held this week in town. Wanting out in the two final events this rink became the proud possessor of the Grand Aggregate and Calgary Brewery trophies. The rink was composed of the following: Lead, Mr. G. Boyd; second, Mr. W. E. Simpson; third, Mr. W. E. Zinkin; and skip, Mr. J. L. Gerow.

HEATH

A miscellaneous shower party was held at the home of Mrs. E. McLeod on Wednesday last in honor of Mrs. Clinton Davis. Those present were Mesdames McLeod, Clinton Davis, Spornitz, R. Mesnier, R. Smith, F. Ford, H. Ford, A. Patterson, B. Jones, E. Murray, Herbert, Gorman, Bessie L'Hercule, C. Dixon, and the Misses G. Hough, J. Spornitz, E. Ford, D. Bouck, E. Turnbull and D. Turnbull. Musical numbers and the tea hour were very much enjoyed.

The regular meeting of St. Patrick's W.A. is to be held tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon.

The Catholic League held their winter drive and dance on Friday last. The attendance being good considering the weather. Prize winners were Mrs. P. Herbert, Mrs. B. Ford and Mrs. S. Touchette, and Messrs. F. McTurk, M. Touchette and C. Low.

Mr. Henry Potvin underwent an operation last week and is feeling much better.

QUESTION BOX

Q: How do radio broadcasters give the effect of fire over the radio? R.S. Ans: Different methods are used. Most common—crunch cellophane in the hand, close to microphone. For a small fire put the cellophane in an ordinary paper bag to soften the crackling.

This column will gladly answer any questions relative to the radio—artists programs or technique. Please address queries to Walter Dales, in care of this newspaper.

The Legion Notice Board

We are awaiting with much interest news of the recent Dominion Convention. Press reports are, so far, scrappy and incomplete but it appears that reforms of some kind are in the offing, particularly regarding those pensioners in the severely wounded class.

Branch news has largely been of the routine class. Last week we had three branch members in the local hospital and they were visited and supplied with a few delicacies. We all hope that the authorities in Edmonton would get through with our President and let us have him back in, at least, as good shape as they got him. The latest news is that he is fed up with inaction and not feeling any better for his enforced retirement.

Efforts are to be made to get the membership of this branch working on a more equitable footing and to live up to the Legion Constitution in that regard better than we have previously done. There is really no reason why we should not have the support of every ex-soldier in the district and there is every reason why we should. We have their support in all matters but one and are contemplating a letter to all concerned and from which we hope to get results. It is not that membership matters so much to any branch financially but the hand of our Provincial Command would be much strengthened if they could chain to represent double the number of members that they now do. If each province could do this think what it would mean to the Dominion Command when they talk to the powers that be or ask for any concession or redress.

FIND ANCIENT CLOTH IN SWISS ALPS CAVE

Explorers in the mountain caves of the Swiss Lake Dwellers, who lived ten thousand years ago, have discovered pieces of cloth that are older than written history. Although obtaining such an early start, cloth-making remained for thousands of years one of the least progressive of industries. Up to 150 years ago, the only known methods of spinning were by the handwheel, or by the still more primitive distaff and spindle. But ever since 1767, when the Lancashire weaver, Hargreaves, invented the spinning jenny, tremendous technical improvements have been taking place in textile manufacturing, stands as one of the most progressive and up-to-date of industries.

Two years after Hargreaves brought out his spinning jenny, a Derbyshire barber's apprentice by the name of Arkwright patented a spinning mule and set up a water mill to make cotton goods. Six years later, Crompton of Bolton combined these inventions in a machine that was called The Mule. Most of the succeeding inventions have been based on the principle of the Spinning Jenny and the Roller Spinner.

The first machines set up on the North American continent were in New England in 1783. The Canadian industry got under way at a little later date, but compared to any other manufacturing industry in this country our cotton textile business is relatively very old.

At the present time there are 106 production establishments operating in seven provinces. Although the main concentration is in Quebec and Ontario, manufacture is also carried on in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia. Over 21,000 people are directly employed of which 36 percent are women. Many more thousands find work in supplying materials of Canadian origin, such as rayon yarns, starches, rubber, thread, dyes, bleaches, chemicals, oils, spools, tubes and packing materials. Supplying the industry with machinery, building and heating materials and transportation services provides occupation for a further large class of wage earners. These direct and indirect employees of the cotton textile industry form a large body of consumers of Canadian farm and other products both from the East and West.

Since 1932 the total domestic market for cotton cloth has gradually increased and the production of the mills has also increased. Due, however, to successive duty reductions, the Canadian mills have lost ground as compared to imports, the rates on cotton goods coming into Canada now being lower than those of any other important cotton manufacturing country in the world.

 Now is the time of year to build cupboards, sinks, wardrobes, lay new floors, and make your wife's work easier and more pleasant. This work can be done now while labor and materials are cheap. Any assistance we can render will be cheerfully given and estimates are free. Atlas Lumber Co. Joe Welch, mgr. Phone 57.

Mr. A. W. Howarth, of Wainwright Motors, will be in the city for a few days just week-end on business.

BUSINESS MEN LIKE THIS EXPENSE ITEM

Paying money out is always less pleasant than taking it in. Expense items are headaches for the business man, with one exception.

Money paid for advertising is the single exception. It's the only expenditure a business executive will regard with pleasure, for well he knows his money is being invested, not lost.

Advertising is an investment -- something paid out today to assure greater income tomorrow. Building demand for merchandise thru advertising is just as important as buying goods. Advertising not only creates demand and builds good-will; it makes money for the man who uses it.

THERE'S A REASON :::::

THERE'S A REASON WHY YOU INSTINCTIVELY TURN TO THE MERCHANT WHO ADVERTISES WHEN YOU WANT DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

ADVERTISING BUILDS HIS SALES, INCREASES HIS BUSINESS. THE LOWER MARGIN OF PROFIT ON EACH SALE IS PASSED ON TO YOU.

WHEN YOU SEE A LOCAL STORKEEPEER'S AD IN YOUR HOME TOWN PAPER, YOU CAN BE SURE HE HAS CONSIDERED THE BUYER'S INTEREST AS WELL AS HIS OWN. —THE EDITOR

Books That Matter

The Dark Weaver: By Laura Goodman Salverson (Toronto: Ryerson Press). Price $2.00.

The Rains Came: By Louis Bromfield (Toronto: Musson Book Co.). Price $2.75.

Enchanter's Nightshade: By Ann Bridge (Toronto: McClelland and Stewart). Price $2.50.

A Southern Harvest: Edited by Robert Penn Warren (Toronto: Thomas Allen). Price $2.50.

This week Mr. Sibcox has asked me to conduct this column. In doing so, I shall quote from the Book Review Digest of the A.C.B. Reading Guide, the official quarterly of the Association of Canadian Bookmen. The four books treated here are outstanding among much excellent fiction this season.

Reading Circles and Book Fairs. First, however, I should like to assure the many readers who have written to us regarding the organization and conduct of Reading Circles that the A.C.B. Book Information Bureau is prepared to assist them in every way possible. It is our hope that many such Reading Circles will be undertaken in collaboration with the Association during 1938, and that many Book Fairs may be organized.

During 1937 much book fairs were held in Whistler, St. Catharines, Pickering, Guelph, Barrie, Goderich, Toronto and Montreal. These proved very popular, and we are ready to assist Peterborough and other cities right across Canada that are planning such treats for book lovers during the month's ahead.

Drought-Sufferers Need Your Old Books.

The Association of Canadian Bookmen also wishes to call attention to the drive it is fostering for books to stock the hundreds of small lending libraries we are establishing throughout the drought areas of the Prairie Provinces.

Please help us to bring hope and happiness to those unfortunate fellow-citizens by sending your old books to the Headquarters of our Association, 20 Dundas Square, Toronto, or direct to Major H. O. L. Strange Grain Exchange, Winnipeg, Manitoba. "Let us who have so much help those who have nothing."

Novels Recommended by the A.C.B.

The Dark Weaver: "Mrs. Salverson of Calgary, who has just published what, in my opinion, is the best Canadian novel of 1937, is building an English reputation while still under the curse at home of an original best-seller. In 'The Dark Weaver' she has written by far her best book. It is a full-bodied, many-sided story of European immigrants who became Manitoba pioneers in the late 19th century, and their children who were of the right age to participate in the Great War, one brief incident of which is used for climax. Four distinct sets of people, differing in race as well as social status and outlook, are picked up in Europe and the causes of their transfer explained.

"Thrown together in the wilderness north of Winnipeg, with many others, these eight are followed in their new homes, where they make new friends and pick up new associates. Their loves, marriages and economic fortunes are graphically related to form a clear story pattern of dramatic intensity. As a community novel of the Canadian West, it is the best yet published, but Mrs. Salverson is too much the innate story-teller to lose her individual characters in a mass picture. Each develops clearer identity page by page.

"The Dark Weaver" is not a sermon. It is a play, a demonstration, a coherent piece of Canadian life. It is first and last a story, and a good one." —William Arthur Deacon, "Globe and Mail".

The Rains Came: "The rains came to the Indian city of Ranchipur; but that was not all. In addition to the torrential downpour of the monsoon there were an earthquake, a flood and a fire which combined to destroy a large part of the city, and to wipe out some nine thousand of its native population, as well as a scattering of its military and missionary Europeans. These were followed by the devastating outbreaks of epidemic of typhoid and cholera. Against this background of events, Louis Bromfield undertakes to make a study of two problems. The first, which is touched upon lightly, is the effect of the official attitude of the British conquerors upon their subjugated races. The second is the possibility of a New India—an India in which the ignorance, fatalism and the stultifying complexity of her caste systems have been so modified and moulded by education that she is able to select from Western civilization the scientific knowledge which she needs without losing her own national and psychological integrity." —Hunter Lewis, "Vancouver Province".

Enchanter's Nightshade: "Miss Bridge has written a truly delightful novel suave and sophisticated in the best sense of the word enlivened by sprightly incident and lifelike conversation. Her pretty young post-Victorian heroine (the period is 1906) is transplanted from England to act as governess in a titled Italian family of vast ramifications. Always in the background is the Italian landscape, a lovely setting against which is sharply projected the realism that is so characteristic an aspect of the Italian graciousness of living. The Viti Alta clan—an aggregation of family connections rather than a single family—is in summer quarters waiting to celebrate the hundredth birthday of its beloved Vecchia Marchesa—and its days pass in picnicking and visiting, in judicious studies for the young, and injudicious flirtations for the not so young. Passion breaks into the happy tale of leisure hours, and leaves suffering where ignorance and innocence were before. But Miss Bridge, with the clear-sightedness and hard realism of her Italian matriarch, lays bare the feigning of even grief and brings to an end a story that makes no concession to sentimentality on a note of valiance which maturity must accept as the actual example of life.

"Enchanter's Nightshade" is not only excellent entertainment but extremely skillful art. It has everything that a light novel should have, vivacity and sensibility, and with it a harder grain of common sense that gives it seriousness." —Amy Love-man, "Saturday Review".

A Southern Harvest: "Robert Penn Warren has made an exceedingly good job of this collection of short stories by Southern writers. In the first place, 'A Southern Harvest' is generous in size, containing some twenty-two longish examples from the work of as many writers, together with an introduction by Mr. Warren and biographical notes upon the writers represented. All the work is of recent copyright, so that almost any reader may be sure of finding in it something worth while that he has missed. These stories are meant to be descriptive of Southern life or obviously rooted in Southern tradition, a mixed and stimulating bag of tales. The quality and variety, almost any 'one section of the country would find it hard to match.' —The New York Times.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

Acute rheumatism also called rheumatic fever occurs most frequently during early adult life. It is characterized by swelling and inflammation of joints, and not infrequently by inflammation of the lining of the heart.

That it is caused by a germ has been established by recovery of the germ from the fluid of an inflamed joint. The disease is more common in males than females because exposure to wet and cold and sudden changes of temperature to which workmen are exposed in much greater numbers than are women have been found to be very important underlying causes. It would appear that body resistance is lowered by dampness and cold allowing the germs to gain a hold upon the system. Those who work outside, as well as bakers, iron workers and others exposed to sudden changes of temperature should take precautions to avoid getting chilled.

The onset of the disease is characterized by a feeling of prostration, fever, much sweating and pains in the joints especially affecting the arms and legs.

The pulse is rapid and bounding the tongue moist and coated and the patient quickly loses appetite and develops a great thirst. The affected joints, frequently knees, elbows, ankles, wrists and hands are swollen, red, tender to touch, and extremely painful. Nausea may also be a disturbing factor and constipation is practically always present.

But more important perhaps than the troublesome symptoms described is the damage to the lining of the heart which occurs in about 50 percent of cases.

A person suffering from rheumatic fever should be kept in bed and made to remain absolutely at rest to avoid any strain being placed upon the heart. The acute stage lasts from ten to twenty days but there is great danger of relapse if proper care is not taken.

The painful joints should be kept wrapped preferably in flannel. A high-crown split down the front—permits of sponging and drying the body with the least amount of disturbance to the patient.

Liniment and drugs which control pain will relieve the distress while absolute rest will help the heart to recover from the inflammation which and nursing care recovery may be looked for but without proper care the results may be disastrous.

DIVIDENDS IN SERVICE

To the weekly newspapers of rural Alberta a paragraph of admiration is herewith respectfully inscribed. Community editors through a period of unprecedented economic and political upheaval have stood courageously by their convictions, then duty and the best interests of the people they serve. They have carried regularly to those who otherwise would have been cut off from the panorama of events, condensed news of home and world happenings and offered sound suggestions on problems that call for collective thinking and unified action. The weekly editor has preserved his faith when others faltered; he has held on when others would have let go; he has helped others with their troubles when he sorely needed help with his own. We bow in humble tribute to his worth, and to the modest pencil that will finally win over all shouting demagogues. —The New Horizon.

CLEED OF OPEN ROAD

The beauty of the open road is not policed, except by the honor of the traveller.

I, therefore, who love the freedom of the open road, shall not permit that freedom to degenerate into license.

Capable of perceiving the beauty of trees, I shall be incapable of destroying that beauty for those who may follow.

The living radiance of the flowers brightens my journey. I shall not wantonly wrest from them that life and radiance.

It is the very order and cleanliness of a wayside camp that tempts me to halt for a rest. I shall not, then, be so boorish a guest as to leave it in disorder and uncleanness.

I shall respect the lives, the property and the customs of the community through which I pass, and thus endeavor to leave agreeable recollections of the motor and the motorist.

Private entails obligation. I, who ride the open road, value and enjoy its countless privileges. Equally, therefore, do I assume—with goodwill and sincerity—its few and legitimate obligations.
